TERROR IN A KANSAS TOWN

I couldn't believe it.
Babysitter's beau with his new, slick city friends
Descending one night on that lonely Kansas house
Scaring the kids as they did
Pee-ing on the furniture, carpets,
in the drawers, and clothes closets
Hurling fully-loaded cans of beer
at the walls,
Windows,
Mirrors,
Fixtures
Carving god-knows-what into all the woodwork
The terror in those poor kids' eyes.
And her, the babysitter, helpless to end the wanton destruction.

Yeah, they were busted, made to pay.
But the terror in those poor kids' eyes ...
ain't no money can make that go away.

BULLETS

Did you ever hear a bullet whiz by?
